EDGE OF ARABIA
contemporary art from saudi arabia

Concrete II, 2009, by Abdalnasser Gharem

FOR THE FIRST TIME SAUDI ARTISTS PRESENT THEIR WORK DURING THE VENICE BIENNALE. IN 2009 A NEW GENERATION OF SAUDI ARTISTS SHED LIGHT ON THE LARGELY UNKNOWN CONTEMPORARY ART CULTURE OF SAUDI ARABIA.

Magnetism (Installation), 2009, by Ahmed Mater Aseeri

Edge Of Arabia in Venice features the work of 10 Saudi contemporary artists, male and female. Their work explores the complex and diverse reality of 21st century life in Saudi Arabia, combining installation, performance and a variety of other media with a multi-disciplinary approach to artistic practice – one artist is a GP, another an army Major.

In its outlook and range the work is as much personal or domestic as it is geopolitical. This is not an exposition of international misconceptions concerning Saudi Arabia, but a series of reflections on local identity, the environment, individual (re)constructions of the past, and our 21st century engagement with the future. Edge of Arabia in Venice promises to provide a unique and unpredictable perspective on the hitherto little-known contemporary art culture of Saudi Arabia.
